- Create Talent industry ready: Companies profit from highly qualified human resources such as researchers or students; Facilitate industry to attract top talent and keep them engaged with the help of benefits that focus on skill-building, leadership and career development.

According to some estimates, up to 10 per cent of new products or processes are based on the contribution of academic research. In fact, collaboration with industry has become an inevitable part of university funding and the funds from international organizations and business enterprises for R&D in the higher education sector nowadays represent a 'significant source' in many countries.

Collaboration Model

We understand each Academic Institute have their own varied strengths, but are with a single objective of driving towards Excellence. With that in mind, we often keep the options open to your choice to decide which would be ideal for your institution, be in Training or the Internship needs which can be completely customized.

With most of Training Modules we provide are Certification based we do provide option to provide certification exclusively by Voltech or a possibility of Joint Certification by Voltech + your Institution with minor difference in Pricing. We will also be assisting students in the placement on completion of Training / Internship by approaching our network of Clients within India and abroad.

[PS: Our Training Modules are currently under evaluation by NSDC, Govt of India and we are soon to get an approval on the same which would then be recognised with their credentialing in addition to recognition by Voltech Group of Companies]

We would like to hear your thoughts on the above and you are welcome to get back to us anytime to discuss further on the same. We will be more than happy to get a chance to meet with your team and discuss in person on all possible clarifications you may have on the above.

Sincerely,
Team VHRS
